

Lloyd and Isabel interact with two rhino orphans in Zululand.

Rhino Knights charge forth

Westville's very own Rhino Knights, Isabel Wolf-Gillespie and her husband, Lloyd Gillespie, are all set for the Rhino Knights challenge, which is a global awareness and fund raising campaign highlighting the rhino poaching problems in Southern Africa and connecting with stakeholders involved.

Joining hands with two of South Africa's most iconic and admirable conservationists Dr. Ian Player and Lawrence Anthony, funds raised during the campaign will support the initiatives of the Magubu Ntombela Foundation (Founder Ian Player) and The Lawrence Anthony Earth Organization. Every day on the move

Isabel Wolf-Gillespie will run a half marathon (21km); cycle 60-80km and, on the same day, horse ride 20km to cover a daily distance of a 100km on average. Parts of the journey may be done without the horse component and the travelled distance on foot and bicycle can therefore increase. The route will take them from Durban to Pietermaritzburg and from there along the Freedom Challenge down to Capetown, heading North into Namibia and further into Southern Africa. Check out the website www.earthawareness.co.za for more info.

Lloyd is a Kainon old boy and has grown up in the Westville community. His nephews and niece are Kainon pupils and his mother lives just across the road. On the 1st May Rhino Knights will kick off at Kainon School with Kainon kids, parents and teachers joining the team in relays for the premier 21km halfmarathon incorporating the schools cross country track.

The route will lead along parts of the Comrades Marathon route finishing at Makaranga Garden Lodge in Kloof where participants and their families can enjoy a yummy breakfast/brunch. The Rhino Knights team will take a quick rest, swop into their bicycle gear and head out on their extreme adventure!
